Stockholm Royal Seaport in Focus - our Journal

The journal is published twice a year. It contains progress reports for the area and gives opportunities for members to be heard! In short, “everything you need to know.” You can advertise in the journal and present your services (the journal is distributed to all businesses in area, including non-members).

The Stockholm Royal Seaport - Business Event

We meet and showcase our companies. You meet your neighbours, have an enjoyable time together and develop business relationships. Our Business Event is always very popular!

Working Groups

Working groups 2010: Developments within trade and industry, and infrastructure issues, Security – safety, the range of services and the immediate surroundings, activities for members, information, profiling and signage of the area.

Mini Seminars

You set aside a few hours and learn more about something that interests you! For instance, you might invite members to visit your company, giving you the opportunity to present yourself and your company to interested members!

Member's Benefits

As a member you can take full advantage of special offers both for the company and for your employees.

We are your voice when it is needed!

The Business Association is, among other things, the contact organisation for the City of Stockholm and other authorities, and a referral body for consultations in matters concerning our area.

We are members of the Network of Business Associations Stockholm (with about 20 other business associations). The Association is led by a board that is elected at the Annual General Meeting. But most of the work is done in project teams. In this way we are able to draw on the knowledge and specialist skills of our members.

We are the contact organisation for, and cooperate with, among others: the City of Stockholm, Stockholm Business Region, Ports of Stockholm, Small Business Delegation, the politicians in City Hall, the local commercial property owners / managers, the police and the National Crime Prevention Council. We are able to actively influence traffic issues, building construction, local services, environmental issues and other prerequisites for a well-functioning business community.

Together we are strong!

All companies in our area is equally welcome as members of the Business Association. As a member, you choose how active you want to be and, irrespective of your choice, your membership is extremely valuable both for your company and for the Association. As our numbers grow, the stronger we become!

There's lots happening in the area right now!

Homes are being built. The Northern Link is being built, the entire infrastructure in the area is changing radically! Lots of things are going on and much of this affects you and your company. Being a member of the Business Association for the Stockholm Royal Seaport is a great way to keep yourself continuously updated.

A major network throughout the region!

We are members of the network of Business Associations in Stockholm (FGS), which also gives you, as a member, access to a large regional network. The FGS works with general issues of common interest such as regional infrastructure projects and the development of the city's business districts. As a member you also have the opportunity to establish contacts with member companies in the other Business Associations.
